

Artificial Intelligence (AI) & Job Readiness Skills (JRS)

Cohort 4 of the Tech4Girls Program will train young women with Artificial Intelligence (AI), Soft Skills and Job Readiness Skills (JRS) in phase one of the program, to equip students with essential skills for future careers. Phase 2 of the program however, will provide training in coding and enhanced Cybersecurity.

Part one of phase 1 will be taught in partnership with TAF College. There will be two classes, each of which will alternate between AI and soft skills modules after two weeks, to ensure balanced learning.

- Class A starts with AI modules (10am–1pm) and later switches to Soft Skills (2pm–5pm).
- Class B begins with Soft Skills (2pm–5pm) and later switches to AI modules (9am–1pm).
- Each class will have a 15 minute break mid session.

HACSA assistants will start the class 30 minutes before the trainer arrives by introducing the topic and answering questions from the students. The assistant will also sit in the class during the training and follow the course. They will file an electronic report after every class.

The calendar below shows the modules and time slots for both classes throughout part one of phase one of the program.
